This is all you have to know for the teacher panel , now its time to go to see how secretary account works.

Secretary account

Secretary account is the most complex one with 4 different important features, down below you can see how general account looks like:

First panel we will work with is the “Manage Teacher” panel, see below how it works:

P.S – this working panel gives you access to two different functions (creation and also the edit or the removal of an actual teacher)

Secretary

- + Manage Teacher
- + Manage Student
- + Manage Class
- + Manage Log-In

The second panel we will work with is the “Manage Student”, see below how it works:

P.S – this working panel gives you access to two different functions (creation and also the edit or the removal of an actual student)

- + Manage Teacher
- + Manage Student
- + Manage Class
- + Manage Log-In

Create Student

First name: 1

Last name: 3

Address: 5

Password: 2

Phone no.: 4

Birthday: 6

Create Student 7

Edit Student

You can select to continue with editing or simply deleting an existend student

1 Select Student: 2 - Johannis Sugaciu 2

Delete Student 1

Address: 2

Password: 3

Phone no.: 4

Edit Student 5

The third panel we will work with is the “Manage Class”, see below how it works:

P.S – this working panel gives you access to two different functions (creation and also the edit or the removal of an actual student)

The screenshot displays the 'Manage Class' interface. On the left is a dark blue sidebar with a list of options: '+ Manage Teacher', '+ Manage Student', '+ Manage Class' (highlighted with a red box), and '+ Manage Log-in'. A red arrow points from this sidebar to the main content area. The main area is divided into two sections. The top section, titled 'Create Class', has a red border and contains three dropdown menus: 'Class number' (value: 7, labeled 1), 'Class letter' (value: E, labeled 2), and 'Class teacher' (value: 1 - Baba Cloanta, labeled 3). Below these is a green 'Create Class' button (labeled 4). The bottom section, titled 'Edit Class', has a green border. It includes a text box 'You can select to continue with editing or simply deleting an existed account'. Below this is a 'Select Class' dropdown (value: 12 A, labeled 1) and a red 'Delete Class' button (labeled 1). A 'Class average' label is present. There are two rows of student/course management. The first row has a 'Student' dropdown (value: 1 - Dodon Putulica, labeled 1), a green 'Add Student' button (labeled 2), a 'Course' dropdown (value: English, labeled 1), and a green 'Add Course' button (labeled 3). The second row has a 'Student' dropdown (value: 1 - Dodon Putulica, labeled 1), a red 'Remove Student' button (labeled 4), a 'Course' dropdown (value: Romanian, labeled 1), and a red 'Remove Course' button (labeled 5).

And the final panel we will use is the manage “Log in”, see below how it works:

The screenshot displays the 'Manage Log-in' interface. On the left is a dark blue sidebar with a list of options: '+ Manage Teacher', '+ Manage Student', '+ Manage Class', and '+ Manage Log-in' (highlighted with a red box). A red arrow points from this sidebar to the main content area. The main area is titled 'Change log-in' and has a red border. It contains two input fields: 'Username' (value: Alex Ionescu, labeled 1) and 'Password' (value: , labeled 3). Below the 'Username' field is a green 'Change Username' button (labeled 2). Below the 'Password' field is a green 'Change Password' button (labeled 4).

This is the last working panel you had to know how to use.

Thank your very much for using our application and your attention to read this user guide.
